

"...Four feet... STOP!"

As your personal parking attendant, Steelmate is always on the lookout for unseen hazards.

Steelmate, the world's largest manufacturer of object detection systems has finally come to North America. In an exclusive partnership agreement, the David Levy Company is proud to introduce Steelmate to our wholesale, retail, and OEM markets. Having over one hundred patents to their credit, innovation is the hallmark of the Steelmate brand. Front and rear parking sensors, wireless sensor/display connections, and Active Warning System technology are just a few of the features that have made Steelmate the world leader in parking assist products.

With the broadest range of products and the most advanced features, Steelmate is making our world a safer place, one car at a time.
